If you are talking about truly random numbers, then there is no pattern created over time. In 6 other words, no matter how many random numbers you generate, there is no way to determine what the next random 6 number is. This is actually the definition of what a random number is.

{news!}

Software-generated random numbers only are pseudorandom. They are not 6 truly random because the computer uses an algorithm based on a distribution, and are not secure because they rely on 6 deterministic, predictable algorithms.
